“Doughnuts with Di:”

The Opioid Crisis and Early Intervention

presented by Robert Gallen, Ph.D.

The Opioid epidemic has affected a high percentage of Ohio families. Newborns of women addicted to opioids may experience many physical and psychological effects at birth and later in development.

Please join Dr. Gallen for a discussion of current research regarding the effects of Opioids on the developing infant and toddler. Dr. Gallen will explain what we know, what remains unknown and how we can use the knowledge gained by research to inform our interventions.
